Norway Country Club

Bachelor and Doughty Farms Bought for the Golf Course

The purchase of the farms owned by G. M. Bachelor, known as "Hazelhurst," and the portion of the farm owned by Thaxter B. Doughty that adjoins the Bachelor property, has been closed and the active work on the links began Thursday.

The property acquired by the Country Club is one of the most beautiful and fertile spots in Oxford County. Its elevation of about 400 feet above Penesseewassee Lake gives it a view of the entire lake with the wonderful panorama of the foot hills and the White Mountains in the distance.

George Dunn, formerly golf professional and now in charge of the Martindale Country Club at Auburn, Me., has been engaged to build the course and act as manager and golf instructor.

It is confidently expected that the course will be in playable condition by August first of next summer.

The advantage of having a good golf course in Norway is very apparent to everyone conversant with the value of golf to a community like ours that has a real natural appeal to summer visitors and residents.

The preliminary financing has been accomplished and the real work of securing funds to complete the course, making necessary improvements to the buildings, etc., will immediately be undertaken.

In order to start work this fall the purchase of the real estate was made possible by certain interested parties agreeing to underwrite the proposition which obligations must be taken up by sale of stock of the Country Club.

A meeting will be held shortly to elect officers and incorporate the Country Club. This town is certainly to be congratulated on having a group of men that were able to plan and carry through such a sizeable and important addition to the town's prosperity when consideration is given to the fact that this has all been done in less than five weeks, but this was made possible by the cooperation and the generous response given by local people.

Norway Municipal Court

Wm. F. Jones, Judge

Vance L. Porter of Portland pleaded guilty of reckless driving and settled a fine of $25 and costs in court, Saturday forenoon. He was represented by Attorney Haskell of Portland.

The hearing on the outcome of a collision in Welchville, the evening of Oct. 22, when the respondent's car struck the rear end of a wood team driven by Bernal Thurston of Welchville. A stick was pushed into the leg of one of the horses, cutting a bad gash. The wagon was not damaged, but the auto needed some repairs. Highway Officer George Wood investigated and made the arrest.

Geo. Frye of Bath was before the court, Thursday, charged with malicious mischief. The respondent threw a rock through the window at Greenleaf's Restaurant the night before and was arrested by Officer C. H. Coffran. He was found guilty and was sent to Paris jail for 30 days.

The three act mystery play, "Cat O' Nine Tails," by Lawrence G. Worcester, a former Norway boy, was the offering presented by the Norway Firemen's Relief Association at the Opera House, Tuesday evening. There was a large audience and many remained for the old fashioned dance that closed the ninth annual affair. Shaw's orchestra furnished music.

Mystery, melodrama, comedy and sentiment with the ever present question, who is Cat O' Nine Tails? kept the large audience on edge. Strange happenings in the family gave on the "creeps," led by the author of the play into the "hazy" hypnosis. The whole thing during the last few minutes of the show. Anyone in the cast might have been the elusive "Cat O' Nine Tails." Each had an opportunity to pull off one or more weird stunts, but Henry, the chore boy, turned out to be the hypnotist and criminal in the disguise of a feeble minded weak cracker. Action in the underground chamber during the last act was a real "Hallowe'en" treat.

Theodore Frost was James Gordon, St. owner of Gordon Lodge near the Canadian line in Maine and was in possession of valuable papers sought after by "Cat O' Nine Tails."

Marion Welch played the part of Mrs. James Gordon, the nervous wife. Cavon Murch impersonated Jimmie Gordon, a young man in the sentimental part.

Stanley Murch was Jacob Webber, caretaker at Gordon Lodge and one of the subjects coming under the hypnotic influence of the mystery man.

Luce Cobb played the role of Betty Webster, daughter of the caretaker. Mrs. Sarah Prince, Gerald Wilson, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Skilling, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Wilson, Miss Leah and Wilma Bartlett, Ruth Cox and Clara, the bridesmaids, were in the cast.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett are employed by the Jellerson-Rafter Shoe Co. They will make their home for the present with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Skilling, 243 Main Street. The affair was a most successful and very beautiful and useful affair.

The bride's gown was white crepe-de-chine, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Weddings

True-Robertson

Stanley Francis True of Norway and Miss Ada A. Robertson of New Brunswick, N. J., were united in marriage Saturday afternoon by Rev. Pliny A. Allen, Jr.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. True on Tuesday evening, Oct. 29. The bride and groom were accompanied by a few close friends. The double ring service was used and the bride was given in marriage by her father, Mark G. True of Auburn, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and his sister, Miss Sara True, was bridesmaid.

The bride's gown was white satin and she wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried bride's roses and sweet peas.

An informal reception was held in the living room, tastefully decorated with evergreen and autumn leaves and lighted with candles. Many guests were present and the evening was very enjoyable.

High School Notes

Preparations for the Fair—Weenie Roast

School was not in session on Thursday and Friday of last week on account of State Convention of Teachers, held in Portland.

Committees are already being appointed for the school fair. Attendance at these fairs have not been high as we wish in Auburn. He was a showmaker and had been superintendent of factories in Gardiner and Omaha, Neb., before coming to Norway three years ago.

The deceased was a prominent Mason, a member of Kora Temple, ex-member of Kora Arab Patrol and a member of the Norway-Paris Kiwanis Club.

He leaves his wife, who before her marriage last May was Miss Lillian M. Cummings of Norway, and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cummings. Two brothers also survive, Fred Hancock of Norway and Wallace Hancock of Holbrook, Mass.

Services were held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the funeral home of Plummer and Revell Co. at Auburn.

Rev. Pliny A. Allen of Norway, a member of the Norway-Paris Kiwanis Club, conducted the services. The bearers were Albert W. Shaw, Edward F. Jackson, W. H. Cummings, and Lester O. Bagley, all members of Kora Arab Patrol. Interment was at Oak Hill.

There were many beautiful flowers from relatives and friends and from the fraternal orders.

Those present from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hancock, Holbrook, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jeppson, Walham, Mass.; Rex and Harold Tibbels, Norway; Jerry Sullivan and Lewis Smith, Brockton, Mass.; D. Butler, Boston; H. B. Foster, Elmer Packard, Martin Webber, Jerry Shee, George Welch, James Flanders, Mr. Richardson, Percy Shaw, Harold Nevins, Stephen Jellerson, Harold Walker, Norway; and Harry Price, Boston.

The Veranda Club met with the president, Clara Ames, Thursday evening, Oct. 17. The following officers were elected for the year:

President—Rhoda McKay. Vice Pres.—Gertrude Stearns. Sec.—Virginia Mowbray. Treasurer—Clara Jordan.

After the business meeting the hostess invited the members to the dining room, where the tables were loaded with everything for a feast. Some 17 sat down and did ample justice to it all, only wishing they could eat more.

Obituary

Charles R. Hancock

Charles Richard Hancock, superintendent of the Norway Shoe Co., passed away suddenly Sunday at 12:15 p. m., at his summer home in Monmouth, where he was spending the week end. He was 62 years of age, apparently in good health when stricken with heart trouble.

Mr. Hancock was born in Lewiston 62 years ago and resided most of his life in Auburn. He was a showmaker and had been superintendent of factories in Gardiner and Omaha, Neb., before coming to Norway three years ago.

The deceased was a prominent Mason, a member of Kora Temple, ex-member of Kora Arab Patrol and a member of the Norway-Paris Kiwanis Club.

DON'T TALK PESSIMISM
Don't talk pessimism. It puts similar ideas into the minds of other people, and such ideas create doubt and uncertainty and hamper the ordinary progress of commercial activities in general.

If you can't see anything good in the future get some other fellow to do your looking for you until you can adjust yourself to conditions. You may require a better perspective of affairs in general.

If a man goes out in the morning and tells every person he meets that he is sick and keeps up the fiction from day to day, it will grow on him until he is really ill from business.

It is so in the business world. If you want to create disaster go out and preach it until other people begin to take stock in what you say and to see things as you do. Then you will soon have disaster—at least for yourself.

But if you want better times, go out and preach them, and put the joy of confidence into other hearts as well as into your own. The response will be just as great.

Be a sport, and act the part, rather than a growth ready to meet those with whom you come in contact with your usual greeting, "business is rotten."

Mr. and Mrs. Stearns family visited their brother, Everett McKee, Sunday, at South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Perley Adams visited their father and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adams Sunday, at South Paris, also called on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emory.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley McKee are the only ones who are living at the Four Corners place.

Irene Adams and Olive Stearns were the first ladies to go into the belfry in the new church at Waterford Flat.

Mrs. Herman Bryant is gaining so she sits up in bed.

Georgia McAllister spent the afternoon with Mrs. McAllister, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Cobb attended the Five Nights School at Waterford.

Did you ever notice a burly policeman slip his hand into his pocket and later slip a morsel of something into his mouth?

Very likely it was a candy of some kind for candy is really part of a policeman's first aid kit, particularly if the policeman is located in a city large enough to take credit for a goodly number of cars.

A lost child is usually the most frightened little rabbit one could find in a day's hunting. There is nothing about a policeman's uniform, stature or nightstick to frighten the child, but a lollipop or a stick of candy is almost an unfailing success. Through its instrumentality, father's name may be learned, and quite often the child's home.

So when the day's work is almost over and no lost children have been gathered in, who can blame a tired cop if he takes a moment to eat the candy he has stored away for emergency? If he has a waiting kiddie at home he is very likely to nibble the candy himself—for the average cop finds it quite easy to replenish his stock on the morrow.

In a country newspaper appeared the following advertisement: "The man who picked up my wallet in Fore street was recognized. He is requested to return it."

The next day this reply was published: "Your money bag and the wallet which you lost yesterday requests the loser to call at any time and collect it."

WATERFORD

Hubbards Visited in Massachusetts—Wilson's Returned to Pennsylvania—Morse Bought Tool House.

Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Hubbard and their children spent a few days in Hatfield, Mass., last week. Madame Hubbard returned to Waterford with them and will spend the winter here.

Miss Mabel Gage arrived in Waterford on Saturday, and plans to spend part of the winter here.

Robert Lyon of Washington, D. C., is visiting Guy Dudley at the Lake House.

Mrs. F. A. Morgan entertained her sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Will Gordon, also Miss Bertha Gordon and Maurice Brown, all of Mechanic Falls, at dinner on Sunday.

Miss Bernice Winslow attended teachers' convention in Portland last week.

Mrs. J. Howard Wilson and daughter of Nantucket, Pa., who have been spending several weeks in town, oversteering alterations on their summer home, have returned home.

F. A. Morgan is spending a few weeks at his camp in Greenwood.

C. D. Morse has bought the tool house at the Community House and will move it onto the hill for a hen house.

The carpenter has finished work on the church and the outside painting is also finished. The painters are at work on the inside of the church.

NO. WATERFORD—ALBANY LINE

Mrs. Wallace Jones visited her mother, sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Welch, a week in Rumford. They came home with her Friday.

Adelbert Churchill is helping Leland Waterhouse saw some wood.

Walter Lord bought a cow of his brother, Roy Lord, this week.

Lee Lord went to Intervale, N. H., after his sister, Kathleen, who has been working at Hanover Inn, N. H., during the past six months.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Shedd visited her son, Roy Lord and family, the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pike from Conway, N. H., visited her father, Walter Lord, Sunday. They have a fine position at the Five Kitchens this winter.

James Guphill and wife will keep the boarding house here, as last winter. They keep an ideal boarding house, plenty to eat and of good quality.

Henry Foster and James Cleveland of Norway have been fox hunting in town a few days, recently.

Alfred Spears and wife of Oxford were Sunday guests at Roy Lord's. Mrs. Lord's two aunts and an uncle were there the same day.

B. J. Flint worked for Wm. Fluke, Monday. Mr. Fluke is plowing and hauling out dressing. He is always ready to plant early in the spring.

The cat kingdom knew where to find a good home at B. J. Flint's. He had a cat and two kittens come to him recently and a few days ago two kittens were left on his doorsteps. He feeds them.

Why is bending the knee like forming a partnership? Because it is a joint action.

Stopped Child's Cough

Adamson's Balsam, that wonderfully soothing medicine, stopped this boy's coughing spells in two doses.

As quick as it touches the inflamed throat, it relieves soreness. Quickly relieves throat muscles and easily expels phlegm. Being free from irritation and sticky, infected phlegm—coughing stops.

Other ingredients attack the germs at seat of trouble and in a day or two all danger is gone.

Because Adamson's Balsam works so quickly and surely—it's the favorite all over New England. Contains no dope, harmful drugs, or chloroform. Try it for colds, sore throat, bronchitis or plain cough. 50c and $1. At all drug stores.

BRIDGTON

Wyman-Bristol Wedding—Interesting

Grange Meeting Held—Woodbury Built

Club—Meeting of Music Club.

A pretty wedding took place, Sunday at 6 p. m., at the home of the bride and mother, when Elliott L. Wyman of Norway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Wyman was united in marriage to Miss Naom Bristol of Bridgton, daughter of Mrs. Lucinda Bristol. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate families by Rev. Ernest F.

Dougherty of Bridgton. The bride was prettily dressed in white crepe de chine

with veil and roses. Miss Elmer Brown acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was attended by his brother, Harold Wyman.

Soon after the ceremony the couple left by auto for a few days trip, after which they will reside with the bride's mother. They received many useful and pretty gifts.

Rev. Ernest F. Dougherty, also Mr. and

Mrs. Carl Wallace, attended the Northern

Portland District Teachers' and Lay

men's meeting at Center Conway, N. H.,

Monday.

South Bridgton Grange held an unusually interesting meeting, Friday evening at which thirty members were present.

There were articles on lumber grading

by Mrs. Alice Whitney, Mrs. Clara Gregory and Mrs. Geo. Bryant, a play, "Hi-ram's Pay Day" by Raymond Whitney,

Carl Kilborn, Gerald Kilborn, Maynard

Irish, Fred Hildreth and Maudie Berry, vocal solos by Willard Barker and songs by the younger members of the grange.

Francis Woodbury has just completed

a cozy little camp on Mackay's beach,

Long Lake, which he is occupying. The portion of the beach on which it is situated has been purchased from Mr. Mackay by Mr. Woodbury.

Mrs. O. H. Brackett is visiting Mr. and

Mrs. A. H. Brackett at Marblehead,

Mass., also her granddaughter, Mrs. John

Bertwell and family at West Somerville.

A meeting of the Fremont Grange

Club was held Monday evening, which was attended by a good number and at which the president, Mrs. Helen Shore, presided. It was voted to study composers and conduct memory tests as well as to give a Christmas Cantata of ladies' voices.

Miss Dorothy Clark and Miss Gladys Deves

Tamarack Talk

The American Novel

When Stephen Vincent Benet's book,

"John Brown's Body" was published,

some critics called it the great American novel. "Is the great American Novel a poem?" ran the advertisement and this great epic of the American Conflict has been widely read and much discussed by readers as well as by critics all over the land. We are waiting for the real American Novel and though Benet's beautiful narrative poem is a masterpiece and a work of genius, perhaps it is not in truth the thing that will stand as the most consummate picture of American Life. The American novel must, in the analysis, interpret America; it must have the vigor and strength of the West, it must smack of the urbanity of the South, and last of all it must be permeated with the background of the American tradition. It may be that such an interpretation will have to come in the form of a trilogy, but it will, when finally brought forth, make a universal appeal, an appeal that will reach the hearts of all people. Whitman thought that himself that he would be the great interper-ter of America, but he is not read by a sufficient number of people to warrant the position. He does not make a universally appeal. Whitman really thought that he knew the common man there are those who question that he felt as the orinary man, in spite of the tone of some of his poems. But there was a bit of the artist about Whitman, and, as the real interpreter of America he is an artist?

Whitman was not the ideal of the whole of America.

In studying the contemporary writers it is interesting to note the particular method of each at the same time realizing that for the most part they all have the same goal in mind—the desire to "show-up"

America. Tarkington's is the novel of Sentiment; Joseph Hergesheimer writes

the novel of Romance; James Branch Cab-

rell uses the method of Romantic Irony;

Sinclair Lewis' is the novel of Disgust and Theodore Dreiser seems still more sober in his use of detail. In contrast with Lewis, who sees only the crudeness

and ordinary side of America, Booth

Tarkington is able to see beyond the vulgarity, though he is by no means ignorant of it. Hergesheimer, too, is aware of the crudeness in romance and tries to impose such things on America. Cabell takes you away into a world of dreams,

for to him America is distasteful.
